LAST EDITION.

That Trouble With England.

The Hoax Fully Exposed and the Inconsistency Explained.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 26.—In the sensational statements sent from this city regarding probable hostilities with England, the delay in organizing the Commission authorized by the Washington treaty for the purpose of deciding the amount of the award to be paid Canada for the privilege of using her fishery grounds, is assigned as one of the causes which must provoke a war between the two countries, but so far from this delay arising from any unwilling-ness on the part of this Government to fulfill its obligations, as alleged in the canards referred to, the organization of the commission was postponed under a direct request from England and at the instance of the Canadian officials.

It will be remembered that the United States selected Ex-Governor Clifford, of New York, to represent this Government in the Commission, and preparations were made to enter upon the work. It is known, also, that the Commissioner selected by England, Mr. Rothey, came to the United States in the winter of 1874, to enter upon his duties. He returned to England without doing so, and for the following reasons: Just then prominent gentlemen in Canada, in cooperation with parties in England, projected the scheme of a new reciprocity treaty between the Dominion and the United States. The American Government was asked to delay the organization of the Commission, as it was proposed on the part of England and Canada to relinquish all claim on their part for payment for the privilege of the Canadian fishing grounds, provided the United States would enter into a treaty of reciprocity.

The United States Government acceded to the request to postpone the organization of the Commission. Mr.
Rothey thereupon visited Washington and extended his journey to California, and finally returned to England.

Hon. Geo. Brown forthwith proceeded from Canada to Washington, and in conjunction with the British Minister openly commenced negotiations with the United States Secretary of State on the subject of a treaty of reciprocity. Mr.
Brown drew up a treaty, which was submitted to the State Department and transmitted through the President to the Senate for its consideration.

One of the provisions of this form of a treaty was that, when ratifications have been exchanged the Articles 22, 23, 24 and 25 of the Treaty of May 8, 1871, between Great Britain and the United States shall become null and void to this provision, the claim for payment for the use of the fisheries was relinquished. This is the real cause of delay in organizing the Commission to decide the amount that should be paid by the United States for the use of the Canadian fishing grounds.

It will be remembered that the Senate adjourned without acting upon the form of a treaty presented for its consideration. Mr. Brown returned to Canada strongly impressed with the view that this omission was owing to a want of time in the Senate to take up the question for consideration and action. The question remained open until Congress assembled in December, 1874, soon after which a decision was made adverse to the treaty. The supposition that this Government, owing to the enormous amount of the Canadian claims for the use of fisheries, has refused or will refuse to submit the matter to arbitration, is preposterous. England, Canada and the United States are bound to the decision of the Commissioners and to abide by the award, be it large or small. England, however, has refused to do so, and promptly paid the award, and it is not to be supposed for a moment that the United States will refuse to do the same with reference to the Fishery Commission.

Disasters at Sea.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26.—The owners of the steamships protest against a private investigation of the cause of the late disaster.

ashore at Crescent City.

umbia river.

By Fire.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—A fire broke out yesterday afternoon in the Fowler Building, corner of Ann and Nassau streets, and the flames spread rapidly from floor to floor until the entire building and contents were totally destroyed.

The losses are as follows: Collier & Judson, hat manufacturers, $15,000; Jno.
Dugan, hat store, $20,000; Capt. W. Watson, saloon, $1,000. On the fifth and sixth floors there was a printing establishment, the loss on which is estimated at $50,000. The building is owned by the Fowler estate, and is damaged to the amount of $25,000. Other occupants lose from $500 to $2,000. The total loss will reach $150,000. Over one hundred and fifty persons are thrown out of employment.

Granville Coffe was killed by the cars at Seymour, Ind., yesterday.

The Late Vice President

Lying in State Yesterday, and the Obsequies To-Day.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—Yesterday, until sunset, an almost unbroken throng of men, women and children passed through the rotunda of the Capitol to view the remains of the Vice President. The body, inclosed in a glass-covered casket, lay in state on a low catafalque, directly under the center of the dome, watched over by a guard of honor detailed from the Marine Corps.

The catafalque is the same which was used at the obsequies of President Lincoln, Chief-Justice Chase and Senator Sumner. The rotunda is prettily draped with the National colors entwined with mourning.

The Senate Chamber has been prepared by the Sergeant-at-Arms for today's funeral ceremonies, and presents an extremely impressive appearance. The entire base of the gallery and all the pilasters are covered with orange, in broad bands and festoons, the woodwork over the Vice President's chair, and the chair itself, being draped with special richness of effect. The approaches to the Senate Chamber and the marble columns of the portico have also been fittingly draped with mourning.

The casket is rich and massive. The casket and members of the Cabinet entered and were seated. In a few minutes the Committee of Arrangements entered, followed by the intimate friends and relatives of the deceased, and the remains were at once brought in.

At twenty minutes of eleven Acting President Ferry called the assembly to order from the President's chair. A long and eloquent prayer was offered by Chaplain Sunderland, after which the burial discourse was preached by Rev.
D. Rankin, of the Congregational Church. At a quarter past eleven Dr.
Rankin concluded his discourse, after which Dr. Sunderland offered another prayer.

At the conclusion of this prayer benefaction was pronounced, the assembly passed out, the procession, formed on the east side of the Capitol, preceded by the Marine Band and escort, took up its march to the depot.

Murdered by a Gambler.

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 26.—At 5 o'clock last evening, Charles D. Whyland, proprietor of the Whyland Restaurant on Dearborn street, was shot in his own restaurant by Hank Davis, a gambler and bunco player. The shot entered the brain and Whyland died in a few minutes. He was very highly respected and conducted a large business. The murderer was arrested at the shooting by a police officer and coked up in the armory.

The Anderson Case--Killed.

SPECIAL TO THE STAR.

HAMILTON, O., Nov. 26.—The jury in the Cary-Anderson case, after being out twenty-nine hours, and, failing to agree, last night was discharged by the Judge with consent of counsel. The Prosecuting Attorney entered a nolle pro in the first and second degrees, and Anderson pleaded guilty to manslaughter, and was sentenced to ten years in the Penitentiary.

A young man named Oscar Darkenhaub was instantly killed at the Rialto Paper Mill, near Port Union, by his clothes catching in a revolving shaft.

The Railroad Convention.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 26.—The resolutions passed by the called Convention provided that an address to Congress be prepared setting forth the claims and advantages of the proposed road. Judge Stanley Matthews, President, appointed as a committee to prepare the address the following: Hon. James O. Broad-head, of Missouri; Chairman, Hon. R.
W. Thompson, Indiana; Hon. John H.
Kennard, Louisiana; Morton McMichael, Pennsylvania; Peter Cooper, New York;
General Joseph E. Anderson, Virginia; Colonel William Johnston, North Carolina; D. Folsenfeld, California; A. G.
Clifton, Texas; H. G. Smith, Tennessee; General Joseph E. Johnston, Georgia; C. K. Marshall, Mississippi. Judge Matthews is also a member of the committee, in accordance with the provision of the resolutions.

FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE OF AMERI-CAN PRESS ASSOCIATION.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—The following letters were received to-day by the Pacific Mail Steamship City of New York:

CENTRAL AMERICA.

PANAMA, Nov. 17.—The Peace Commissioners returned to Panama on the 4th inst., bringing with them the arms of the former State militia under Varlade, and two days afterwards, according to the terms of the treaty, all the political prisoners were released. Ex-President Arasmena, immediately upon recovering his liberty, went on board the South American steamship Leo, which sailed for the South on the 10th inst. Mr. Arasmena, it is believed, will disembark at Payta.

The Pacific Mail Steamship Company's new steamship City of San Francisco arrived from New York through the cident.

SOUTH AMERICA.

PERU.—The presumed confirmation by cable the report that the sale of two million tons of guano, with an advance of one million pounds sterling, had been assured, gives to business in Panama a much brighter aspect. Upon the publifell off several per cent.

Henry Meiges, died at Santiago about October 17th.

CHILE.—In the investigation as to the cause of the collision between the South American steamship Biobio and the Pacific Steam Navigation steamer Cleopatra on the 15th inst., the guilt in the present, if any contradictory evidence was attached to the vessel, was of the former company. The officers and employees of the companies were not allowed to testify. The damage to the steamers was very light, being mostly confined to the bulwarks.

Trouble is again on the tapis between Chile and the Argentine Republic, owing to the latter Government allowing a vessel with colonists to leave Buenos Ayres to settle at a point south of the Santa Cruz river in opposition to the protest of the Argentine Republic.

The American Indians are again mol-lesting the borderers, and so far have escaped punishment.

point indicates no change for the better in its revolutionary attitude.

on the People's Savings Bank this morning, but the officers took advantage of the sixty days' clause, and shut the doors. The Central Park Savings Bank is to be closed up.

Curing Hams and Bacon.

They are various ways of curing bacon. The Yorkshire (England) method is to burn off the bristles, rather than to scald them, then brush the carcass and wash it in cold water, and let it hang where it will not freeze for twenty-four hours. One-quarter of a pound of salt-petre and twenty-five pounds of common salt are then rubbed thoroughly into the pieces of the animal, which should be placed in a large tub and covered up closely in a cool place for a fortnight.
Then turn over each piece and rub in a little more salt. Let it remain in the pickle another fortnight, and the bacon is ready to be smoked. The best way to smoke it is with corn on the cobs burned upon charcoal, keeping up a slow, dense smoke, and not a fire. Then put it in a cloth and wash it over with whitewash, to preserve it from mold or fly-bows, and place it where there is no moisture, and it will keep for years.

The Westphalian hams and bacon are cured by the following recipe: To six pounds of rock salt and three ounces of saltpetre and two pounds of coffee C sugar. Put it into three gallons of water, and boil until dissolved, skimming it well while it boils; and when cold pour it over the meat, keeping every part of it under the brine.

Bacon can be pickled ready to smoke in about ten days; but hams should remain in it for four or five weeks. This pickle can be used again and again, if it is boiled up, skimmed, and a small portion of its ingredients added each time.
Before putting the meat into the brine it should be carefully washed and wiped clean from blood, as that spoils the pickle.

Pickling-tubs should be larger at the bottom than at the top, and the pork can remain undisturbed in its layers until needed for use; and the bottom of the tub should be covered with coarse salt, and then a layer of meat placed upon it, and so on till the tub is filled.

A good way to pickle ham: Take a deep, stoneware dish, just large enough to hold a ham, and mix together one pound of coarse brown sugar, one and a half pounds of fine salt, and one ounce each of saltpetre and salt-prunelle. Then rub every portion of the ham, and pile the remainder of it over the top, having placed the ham skin side downward in the dish.

Let it stand for two or three days; then turn it over and rub in the mixture, and ladle over it with a spoon any brine that may be found at the bottom of the pan. Do this for a fortnight, and if the ham is needed for use, it can be smoked for two or three days, and then boiled.
And it will prove a delicious dish, especially if roasted and served with a clar-ified wine sauce, made by heating the last of the tumblers of the wine. And after pouring off the fat, thicken the gravy. If it is to be kept, let it remain in the pickle, rubbing it occasionally for a month or so. A pint of molasses can be substituted for the sugar, and a pint of beer is also an improvement to its flavor.

Bacon is almost the only meat ever tasted by hundreds of thousands of Frenchmen, and they have become connoisseurs in the method of preparing it.
As soon as the pig is killed it is always eviscerated, the carcass being placed upon a bundle of straw and the fire set to it to windward. As one side is eviscerated the pig is turned over, and the other side is eviscerated, and the carcass is then brushed, and scraped with a knife, and washed clean with cold water. After cutting it open, the "fry" is placed into water, to be cleaned from blood, and afterward it is speedily cooked. Some persons will leave the opened carcass to cool all night; while others kill by early dawn, and cut up in the evening by candles, to save time. The pig is cut up into convenient pieces of from three to five pounds each, reserving the hams, feet, heads, and tails for special treatment; also a few roasting-pieces and some sausage meat. The feet are then boiled tender and broiled as tidbits.
